

Introducing: ViewTrip White Label

ViewTrip White Label provides agencies with access to a version of our ViewTrip product which can be branded their own look and feel as well as customised to meet their individual requirement. It enables agencies and their travellers to view, print and e-mail itineraries, expense receipts and electronic receipts via a website as well as access a wealth of destination content.

In addition, agencies and their travellers can choose to view the Galileo elements of their itinerary in one of 23 languages.

Why use ViewTrip White Label?

For a traveller, being able to view their itinerary information anywhere, anytime, totally free of charge is becoming more and more important. By offering a white-labelled version of ViewTrip, agencies can provide their customers with access to a website where they can do just that. This not only enables an agency to provide their customers with an enhanced level of service, but also, by reducing the number of telephone queries, save time and money.

ViewTrip White Label also gives agencies an opportunity to promote special offers to their customers on the website via the promotional message area and advertising links providing them with a new additional revenue stream.
