

Travelport Announces Director Change

25 November 2014

Travelport Worldwide Limited (“Travelport”) announced today that the Board of Directors has accepted the resignation of Mr. Scott McCarty, a member of its Board, effective November 25, 2014. Mr. McCarty is a partner with Q Investments and has served as a director since May 2013, when Q Investments further increased its equity ownership in Travelport.

Douglas Steenland, Chairman of the Board of Directors, said: “On behalf of our Board of Directors, I would like to thank Scott for his valued service as a member of our Board and contributions to Travelport leading up to the IPO. Since Q Investments’ initial investment in Travelport in 2008, Scott’s expertise has contributed to a number of significant strategic initiatives at the company, including its recent, successful initial public offering. We wish Scott well in his future endeavors.”

Scott McCarty commented: “It has been a pleasure to work alongside my fellow Board members and the talented leadership team at Travelport. During my tenure, I have been fortunate to experience the tremendous transformation that, under CEO Gordon Wilson’s direction, has put Travelport in a fundamentally improved position with a significantly strengthened financial profile and strong growth momentum. The recent Board appointments of Elizabeth Buse, Michael Durham and Douglas Hacker provide Travelport with further talented domain expertise across payments, airlines and travel distribution. I have the highest confidence that the Travelport brand and management team will serve well the interests of Travelport’s shareholders. As a result, I will now be able to focus more of my time on my responsibilities at Q.”
