

Top 40 TMC Montrose Travel Renews with Travelport

3 August 2015

Travelport (NYSE: TVPT), a leading Travel Commerce Platform, today announced it has entered into a long-term renewal agreement with Montrose Travel, one of the top 40 travel management companies in the United States, continuing a 35 year partnership between the two companies.

Joe McClure, president of the $275 million in gross sales Montrose, California-based agency, said Montrose renewed its subscriber agreement with Travelport based on distinct advantages Travelport offered versus the competition.

McClure cited the advanced Travelport Smartpoint point of sale solution, access to Travelport Universal API for the various Montrose consumer, loyalty and private-labeled booking sites, and Travelport's "best in class" sales and support team as key drivers in the agency's decision to renew again with Travelport.

"Our slogan---"Helping people travel. One at a time."---is the reason we exist. We pride ourselves on being a leader in providing advanced technology and cutting edge point of sale solutions to support our corporate, leisure, loyalty fulfillment, independent contractor and group lines of business," said McClure. "Travelport offers us the innovative products and services we need to deliver on our brand promise."

"Our long-standing partnership with Montrose demonstrates Travelport's commitment to providing our customers with state-of-the-art technology and outstanding service to help them redefine the selling experience to build and grow their business," said Scott Hyden, group vice president and managing director, Americas.
