Pieter Van Der Voort, Director Partnership and Alliances, at Travelport, said: "We are delighted to offer Travelport-connected agents with access to TPG's airport parking products. Booking airport parking previously required agents to open multiple systems and often involved logging into several different websites to search for the best price which was a time-consuming process. With TPG's Looking4app incorporated into our industry-leading agency point of sale product, Travelport Smartpoint, agents can perform a simple search and offer airport car parking services to customers quickly and easily. By accessing Looking4app, agents can increase the overall revenue per trip and save themselves a lot of time by adding airport parking to existing reservations and back-office systems automatically."
