

Travelport signs new agreement with North-West Transport Agency in Russia

2 December 2015

Travelport (NYSE:TVPT), a leading Travel Commerce Platform, has today announced it has signed a new multi-year agreement with North-West Transport Agency (NWTa), part of the “Pulkovo-Service Group” in Russia. The company, based in Saint-Petersburg is a leading consolidator and specialises in travel management services for corporations.

NWTa will continue to process its travel bookings through Travelport’s Travel Commerce Platform and benefit from Travelport’s unrivalled content.

NWTa will utilise Travelport’s industry-leading Universal API technology to power its internet booking engine and aggregating Travelport’s unrivalled content including branded fares and ancillaries from the leading national and low cost carriers, as well as hotels, car and rail. The solution allows NWTa to create its own bespoke travel applications through a single connection and makes booking travel more efficient by improving search, pricing and profiling functionality.

Elena Ilinkh, General Manager of NWTa commented: “We are very pleased with the agreement and look forward to working with Travelport to develop our uAPI-based search engine to drive future business efficiency and growth. This innovative solution allows us to provide our customers with extensive choice, better services and will also help the company to effectively oversee its large network of 40 sub-agencies.”

Maria Yakushkina, Travelport's Country Manager in Russia, added: "We are delighted that NWTa sees the value Travelport brings to their business and look forward to supplying NWTa with our unmatched travel content and innovative technology. This agreement is a testament to our ongoing commitment to help redefine how travel is booked and improve customer experience."
