

Travelport announces new management changes for Germany and Switzerland

29 March 2017

Travelport (NYSE:TVPT), a leading Travel Commerce Platform, has announced that Dieter Rumpel will now lead the company's business in Germany and Switzerland. Formerly Country Manager, responsible for Travelport's Agency Commerce business in Switzerland, Dieter will now lead the company's business in both Germany and Switzerland. Dieter reports into Simon Ferguson, Managing Director, Northern Europe.

Dieter has over 30 years of experience in the travel industry and prior to joining Travelport in January 2011, Dieter held a number of senior management positions in airline, corporate and leisure travel as well as the event and destination management industries. He grew HRG Switzerland as Director of Operations, built up Kuoni's event management brand in Switzerland, UK and the USA and ran a multi-national destination management sales team across seven European countries. In collaboration with Travelport's existing and highly experienced teams in Germany and Switzerland, Dieter will lead the regional expansion of the world's only true Travel Commerce Platform, while substantially influencing the constant expansion of the Travelport CETS leisure distribution tool.

Dieter commented: "Germany and Switzerland are both key strategic countries of focus for Travelport and provide great opportunities for us to expand the leadership position of Travelport's Travel Commerce Platform. I look forward to driving our business and fuelling the growth of our customers."

Simon Ferguson, Travelport's VP and Managing Director for Northern Europe, added: "With his deep understanding of the industry and needs of our customers, I'm confident Dieter will take us to the next step of our mission to redefine travel commerce and build our leadership position across Germany and Switzerland."
